STATE OF PENNSYLVANIA.

NOTE.—The marginal column marks townships and boroughs; the first indentation, cities; the second, towns. Names of towns are placed under the names of the townships in which they are respectively situated. The population of each township includes that of all towns situated in it, but not that of the boroughs.

TABLE III.—STATE OF TENNESSEE.

NOTE.—The marginal column marks civil districts. Their numbers are official; their names are those in general use. The first indentation marks cities; the second, towns. Names of towns are placed under the names of the civil districts in which they are respectively situated. The population of each civil district includes that of all towns situated in it.

(a) So styled on the return of the assistant marshal.
(b) Pursuant to an arrangement between the authorities of the United States and those of her Britannic Majesty, entered into in November, 1859, a temporary joint military occupation of the Island of San Juan was agreed to. This occupation still exists. Consequently in the enumeration of the inhabitants of that island both citizens of the United States and British subjects are included. San Juan Island, as here given, includes all the population of the island, except the British garrison.

NOTE.—Of the sums contained in the four columns in order, respectively, fourth, fifth, sixth, and seventh, in this table, that in the seventh is invariably the smallest, and that in the fourth invariably the largest. The sum given in column five may be larger or smaller than that in column six, according to circumstances. It happens to be larger in the case of every State, and of each of the Territories except Arizona and Utah, (in the latter case for obvious reasons.) The mathematical proof of column four is by adding columns five and six, and subtracting column seven. The difference between column five and column seven yields the number having foreign fathers but native mothers. The difference between column six and column seven yields the number having foreign mothers but native fathers.

* At 1860 and 1850 the nativity of the slaves was not ascertained. In this table they are assumed to have been native.

* It would appear that some assistant marshals committed the fault of returning as illiterate the Chinese who could not write English while they were able to read and write their own language.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE AND ILLITERACY

IN

EACH STATE AND TERRITORY,

(BY COUNTIES.)

NOTE.—The United States Table of School Attendance and Illiteracy (Table IX) has columns for Chinese and Indians, which are omitted in this table for sake of condensation. These classes of persons are, however, included in the Native, Foreign, and Total columns. Therefore, whenever the items in the White and Colored columns on either side of this Table, (X,) when added horizontally, fail to make the amounts in the Total column, the differences express the Chinese and Indians of the locality.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE AS EXHIBITED IN TABLES IX AND XII.

It might be thought that the school attendance stated in the following table should agree precisely with the school attendance exhibited in Table IX of this volume. A comparison, however, will develop differences often very considerable in the case of nearly all the States and Territories, while a consideration of the character of each table will explain and justify such discrepancies. The returns from which Table IX is made up are individual. The returns from which the following table is made up are institutional. Table IX shows the aggregate number of persons in each State and Territory who report themselves to the assistant marshals as having attended school during the census year. Table XII purports to exhibit the record of the schools thus attended.

Inasmuch as the former return is, so far as it is accurate, necessarily an aggregate return, and the latter is generally an average return, (although the idea of averages is rather too nice to be imported into popular inquiries, like those of the census, with any great degree of success,) it is evident that this difference of method would account for differences in figures, and, in some States, for large differences. For example, there are some States in which schools are habitually kept open for the entire year, yet certain classes of the population are able to send their children to school for but a small portion of the time. This is so notorious that the fact needs but to be mentioned to fully justify a statement of school attendance in Table XII considerably below that in Table IX for all the Middle and Eastern States. Wherever mechanical and manufacturing pursuits are followed to any great extent, the demand for the labor of children becomes so pressing that it is found almost impossible to enforce laws requiring their attendance at school during one or two "quarters," while at the same time it is in precisely these communities that schools are maintained during the entire year.

There are, however, other States in which all classes of the population are so much on an equality in this matter of school attendance that no great differences between Tables IX and XII are to be expected. These are States in which the expense of schools is only incurred during certain seasons of the year, and, at the same time, from the general desire for instruction on the part of the people, and from the fact that the entire industry of the community practically ceases during the same season, almost all who attend school during the year do so for the whole time for which the schools are open.

The facts and considerations above alluded to would account for an excess, in respect to certain States, of the numbers in Table IX over those in Table XII, such excess rising in some portions of the country to 20 and 30 per cent., while in other sections it would be reduced to a minimum or would disappear.

It would seem, however, that the school attendance stated in Table IX should always exceed that stated in Table XII, or at least should never fall below it. That the preponderance should be in the other direction would at first seem impossible and absurd. There are several causes, however, which may produce this result, although they would rarely, if ever, be found to operate in a sufficient degree to overcome the natural preponderance of the numbers in Table IX over those in Table XII in the Eastern and Middle States.

The first of these causes is found in the fact that the pupils of the private schools are, in the great proportion of instances, identical with the pupils of the public schools. In communities like those previously adverted to, where schools are maintained at the public expense for only a small portion of the year, a system of private schools, often very considerable, is called into existence to supplement the annual course of instruction for those whose lack of gainful occupation and ability to pay the fees of tuition render them desirous of pursuing their studies somewhat beyond the extent of the public provision therefor. A scholar attending one of these schools in summer and a public school in winter would be returned twice for the purposes of Table XII, while appearing only once in Table IX.

The above remarks are intended to apply to all instances of duplication in Table XII where private schools are used to supplement the course of public instruction, the two classes of schools being substantially of the same grade, and the difference between them being mainly in the season of the year in which they are held and the fact of tuition being paid in the private schools. In addition to this, however, there is occasion for duplication, more or less extensive, in the fact that students every year leave the public schools by hundreds or by thousands in each State, to attend the higher institutions of learning, or to undertake courses of technical instruction. In the great majority of such cases of yearly transfers it would be inevitable that the student should be counted in the roll both of the school which he had left and of the academy, college, commercial, or other independent school to which he had gone. Similar reason for duplication, indeed, would be found in the frequent promotions occurring in the public schools themselves, wherever a graded system prevails, especially in large cities.

It ought, however, to be frankly admitted that the excess of the numbers returned in Table XII over those appearing in Table IX is occasionally due, though in no large degree, to the neglect of the assistant marshals to properly ask the question in regard to school attendance prescribed by the act of 1850, or to failure properly to record the answers received.

The States in which, at the Eighth Census, such an excess of school attendance, obtained by the canvass of institutions, (as per Table XII of the present publication,) was found to exist, over the attendance obtained by the canvass of families, (Table IX of the present publication,) were: California, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Maine, Michigan, Minnesota, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Vermont, and Wisconsin. Those in which such an excess has been found to exist at the present census, are: Arkansas, Florida, Illinois, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Minnesota, Missouri, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

(a) The income of the several professional schools of the University, except the dental, is included in that of Colleges.
(b) The public school law of Mississippi was passed in June, 1870. The public funds given to the private schools would seem to be on account of the tuition of indigent pupils under the provisions of law relative to the Chickasaw school-fund.

OF

LIBRARIES IN THE UNITED STATES.

(A.)—BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.
(B.)—BY CLASSES AND KINDS.

AT THE CENSUSES OF 1870, 1860, AND 1850

REMARKS

STATISTICS OF LIBRARIES.

The statistics of libraries have never been very creditable to the census of the United States. Such improvement as was practicable with the machinery provided for the collection of these statistics, has been effected at the Ninth Census, and the results will be found in the table following, in comparison with the published results of 1860; but no great amount of complacency will be experienced upon a critical examination of the figures. The fact is, the machinery of the census under existing provisions of law, defective as it is in many particulars, is less adapted to work out correct results in this matter of the statistics of libraries than in any other use to which it is applied.

In 1860, there were returned, of all kinds, 27,730 libraries, containing 13,316,379 volumes. Of these, 8,149 were returned as private libraries, containing, in the aggregate, 4,766,235 volumes; but, for some reason inexplicable at this date, 8,140 of these libraries, containing 4,711,635 volumes, were incorporated in the published table with public libraries, while the nine remaining private libraries, containing 54,600 volumes, were incorporated in the libraries of schools and colleges, as appears by notes to the table following, verified by reference to pages 502 and 505 of the volume on Mortality and Miscellaneous Statistics for the Eighth Census.

At the Ninth Census, (1870,) the total number of libraries returned was 163,353, containing 44,539,184 volumes. Of these, 107,673 were private libraries, containing 25,571,503 volumes. No return under this head was made from the State of Connecticut, the deputy marshal reporting that no exact information could be obtained.

While this increase in the number of private libraries and volumes therein, over the returns of 1860, shows that this portion of the census work has been performed with far greater effort and care on the part of the assistant and deputy marshals charged with the collection of this class of statistics, the results are yet manifestly far below the truth of the case for the whole country, while in respect to certain States the figures of the following table are almost ludicrously disproportionate.

The only compensation for this failure—for such it must be pronounced in spite of the increase over the returns of former censuses—is found in the consideration that the statistics of private libraries are not, from any proper point of view, among the desirable inquiries of the census. The statistics of the manufacture and importation of books would be far more significant and instructive, while obtained with one-tenth of one per cent. of the effort that would be required to collect accurate statistics of private libraries, based upon any classification that might be adopted.

The last clause of the foregoing sentence intimates a practical difficulty, which, however the methods of the census might be improved, would always render the statistics of private libraries of the least possible value. Unless each one of the two or three hundred thousand private collections of books which might claim admission to such a table as that in contemplation of the census law, were to be personally visited and inspected by a competent judge, it would be impossible to prevent the intrusion into that table of tens of thousands of such collections, without any merit to entitle them to a place there. No matter how carefully assistant marshals might perform this duty, or how fully instructed they might be from the central office, the mere fact of six or seven thousand persons being employed in collecting these statistics, would be sufficient to defeat, utterly and hopelessly, all approach to uniformity of treatment. One-half of the assistant marshals would call that a library which the other half would not, or, more probably, nine out of ten such officers would admit everything that claimed to be a library to their lists.

The plan most commonly urged for preventing such a want of uniformity in the collection of the statistics of private libraries is to fix a number of volumes below which no collection of books shall be returned as a library, as, say, 100, 200, 300, or 500 volumes; but it is quite sufficient, without argument, to disprove such a proposition, to indicate the practical difficulties arising from such questions as these: What shall be done with pamphlets and unbound volumes? With children's books? With school books, old and new? With public documents, State and National? It is not too much to say that if all these classes were to be rejected, nine out of ten collections in the United States, which would otherwise pass into a table of private libraries containing one hundred volumes and over, would be thrown out, while, on the other hand, it is difficult to see what value such a table can have for any use, scientific or popular, if these classes are to be indiscriminately admitted.

Passing from the private libraries reported in the following table, to libraries of other descriptions, as returned for the year 1870, a tolerable degree of completeness can fairly be claimed as the result of exceptional efforts in this direction.

Omissions of some importance have doubtless occurred in the column for circulating libraries, and differences in classification adopted by assistant or deputy marshals have caused some apparent discrepancies in other columns.

It should be said that the class "Libraries of historical, literary, and scientific societies," was intended to include only such libraries belonging to learned societies as are not open to the general public, but are reserved to the exclusive use of members or of a limited number of subscribers. This class fails, therefore, to include many libraries of learned societies which, from the fact of being open to the public freely, or upon terms of such liberality as to make their use practically universal, are, for the purposes of this table, more properly taken as public libraries. For some reason not explained, all libraries of this class for the city and State of New York have been incorporated with other classes.

NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS

IN THE UNITED STATES,

(BY STATES AND TERRITORIES,)

AT THE CENSUSES OF 1870, 1860, AND 1850.

REMARKS

STATISTICS OF NEWSPAPERS AND PERIODICALS.

In a country where literary as well as business enterprises are so ephemeral as in the United States, it will of course be impossible to secure absolute uniformity between the statistics of newspapers, magazines, and other periodicals, when collected through different agencies, at dates varying ever so little, and upon independent systems of classification.

The newspaper field of the United States has been very thoroughly worked up by two or three private business firms conducting advertising agencies. The publications of two, at least, of these houses have been carefully consulted in the compilation of this portion of the statistics of the census. Wherever differences have been found to exist between the returns of the assistant or deputy marshals in this particular and the publications of the houses referred to, inquiry has been made into the reason of the excess or deficiency in the census totals, so that, if discrepancies still remain in any case, it is because, after full inquiry, the marshal's return has been held to represent better the facts of the case from the proper point of view of the statistician, or because different dates have been taken for the returns of the census from those on which the statistics of the several business houses conducting these inquiries were collected.

It will readily be seen that considerable differences might be accounted for between statements of this character, bearing date, respectively, 1st of January, 1870, 1st of June, 1870, and 1st of January, 1871, without discrediting any one of such statements.* Newspaper enterprises are constantly being started and abandoned in every section of the United States, both in the form of papers under an entirely new name and independent control, and of semi-weekly or weekly issues of long-established journals. It is easy to see that a spirited business house, intent upon obtaining intelligence of the first movement of any enterprise of this kind, would be apt to hear of the beginning of such efforts more promptly than of their abandonment, and might embody in its annual statement many periodicals which it would not be desirable to include in the statistics of the census.

A second reason for discrepancies between the census tables and the statements prepared by private advertising agencies is found in a different point of view which is necessarily taken in treating the material for such tables for statistical purposes, from that occupied by advertising agencies. There are very considerable numbers made of issues in every part of the country, of which it is an open question whether they are properly to be classed as newspapers or not, such as trade circulars, real-estate circulars, periodical prospectuses, sheets intended for gratuitous distribution at places of amusement, and a dozen other forms of advertisement more or less disguised under a show of presenting news or criticism to the public. Many of these are adapted in a very high degree to the purposes of advertisement, and are, therefore, most properly to be included in the lists of such agencies as those referred to, yet very many of them must be excluded from the tables of the census.

The law requires this report of newspapers and periodicals, on account of their relation to the moral, social, and intellectual condition of the people. To swamp this class of statistics by inconsiderately admitting hundreds of prospectuses, circulars, and advertising sheets, which can possibly have no such relations, would be undoubtedly an abuse. At the same time this subject has been treated liberally, and every periodical has been admitted to these tables which could establish a reasonable claim to be considered as within the purview of the census act.

* The following comparison between the summary of the census returns of newspapers, periodicals, &c., and the summary of such publications presented in Rowell & Co.'s "American Directory," will exhibit the extent of the differences under discussion.

Daily, Rowell, 1871	594	Semi-monthly, Rowell, 1871	116
" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	61	" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	25
" Census	574	" Census	96
Three times a week, Rowell, 1871	105	Monthly, Rowell, 1871	677
" " Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	7	" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	201
" " Census	107	" Census	622
Semi-weekly, Rowell, 1871	112	Quarterly, Rowell, 1871	59
" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	11	" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	8
" Census	115	" Census	49
Weekly, Rowell, 1871	4,379	Total, Rowell, 1871	6,055
" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	768	" Started 1870–'71, (Rowell)	1,083
" Census	4,295	" Census	5,865

It will be seen that where the census figures fall below those of the "Directory," in respect to any class, (except the quarterlies,) the difference is less than the number "started 1870–'71."

CHURCHES IN THE UNITED STATES

(A.)—BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.
(B.)—BY DENOMINATIONS.

AT THE CENSUSES OF 1870, 1860, AND 1850.

REMARKS ON THE STATISTICS OF CHURCHES.

The statistics of churches contained in the following tables are believed to be substantially exact, and to present a just view of the organization of the several religious denominations found within the United States and of the accommodation for public worship afforded by each.

It was not to be expected or desired that the account taken in the census of the churches of the country should in all cases agree with the statements put forth by religious denominations through their respective official organs. The census has its own proper point of view, and applies in some respects different tests from those known to the compilers of year-books or registers.

A church to deserve notice in the census must have something of the character of an institution. It must be known in the community in which it is located. There must be something permanent and tangible to substantiate its title to recognition. No one test, it is true, can be devised that will apply in all cases, yet, in the entire absence of tests, the statistics of the census will be overlaid with fictitious returns to such an extent as to produce the effect of absolute falsehood. It will not do to say that a church without a church building of its own is, therefore, not a church; that a church without a pastor is not a church; nor even that a church without membership is not a church. There are churches properly cognizable in the census which are without edifices and pastors, and, in rare instances, without a professed membership. Something makes them churches in spite of all their deficiencies. They are known and recognized in the community as churches, and are properly to be returned as such in the census.

On the other hand, there are hundreds of churches borne on the rolls of religious sects having both a legal title to an edifice and a nominal membership, which never gather a congregation together, support no ministry, and conduct none of the services of religion.

Some of the larger religious denominations, either in consequence of their peculiar organization or by reason of special efforts, maintain a careful system of reports and returns, and the statistics of such denominations are accordingly entitled to great consideration.

METHODIST.

Foremost among these is the Methodist church, which, by reason of its episcopal form of government and its scheme of changing periodically the pastors of churches, is always in possession, as nearly as it would be possible to effect, of the true condition of its organization in all parts of the country to a late date. Dead churches are not allowed to encumber its rolls, and consequently the lists of its several branches present their exact strength "for duty." This denomination, therefore, affords a high test of the accuracy of the returns of the census; and, notwithstanding that it presents as much difficulty in enumeration as any other, the general correspondence between the statements embodied in the minutes of the annual conferences of the principal branches of the church, after making allowance for the known strength of certain minor branches which do not publish official returns, and the statistics of the denomination as given in the census, is, taking all the States of the Union together, very decided. The slight differences that exist are sufficiently explained by differences between the dates of the returns and by the different rules of construction and classification which would naturally be adopted in doubtful cases by parties acting independently of each other.

There are other denominations, one or two, notably the Baptist, of great importance, in which an absence of central control in the government of the churches and the want of a thorough system of reports and returns, deprive church statistics of value. It is in respect to these, as a rule, that the discrepancies between the claims of the denomination and the results of the census are greatest. In all such cases full and searching inquiry has been made; the recognized authorities of the churches interested have been freely consulted; and assistant marshals have been called on to explain the discrepancy, and to review their own statements. Hundreds of letters have been written from the Census Office on this subject; thousands of churches have been inquired for; and where differences, after all has been done, still exist, it only remains to be said that if this or that denomination has as many churches as it claims, the agents of the census have not been able to find them.

An analysis of the reports of certain religious denominations, however, is sufficient to explain the discrepancies to the vindication of the census, without further investigation. It is generally found that the aggregate reported by the authorities of the denomination is made up of two classes: first, of churches from which reports have been received up to a recent date, showing an actual organization and an active membership, with church accommodation and a ministry; and, second, of churches, often more numerous, which are deficient in one or all of these respects, in degrees ranging from partial or temporary deprivation to total and habitual destitution. In such cases, the statistics accompanying almost invariably cut in between the highest and lowest figures of the denomination; take in all the churches that are fully officered, organized, and equipped, and add to this number such of the second class as, in spite of deficiencies, answer to the true definition of a church from the point of view of the census, viz, are institutions in the community known and recognized.

BAPTIST.

The discrepancies between the returns of the census and the statistics of the church are greatest in the case of the Baptists.

The census of 1860 showed 11,221 "churches." (a)

The census of 1870 shows 14,474 church organizations; the increase in the decade being certainly as large as could have been expected. The statistics of the church, however, purport to show 17,535 churches in 1870 in the territory covered by the operations of the census, (b,) a difference against the census of 3,061. But reference to the statistics of the same church shows that in 1869 only 14,084 churches were claimed, exclusive of the States of Delaware and Rhode Island, the District of Columbia, and certain Territories; adding in the number claimed in 1870 for the States and Territories not reported in 1869, to wit, 91, we have as the total churches for 1869, 14,175, (c,) or 299 less than the census.

If, therefore, the statement of 17,535 churches for 1870 is correct, there must have been a clear addition of 3,360 in the single year intervening, which would be considerably more than the entire addition claimed for the nine years previous, (2,954,) which is wholly unreasonable and incredible.

Proceeding, however, to analyze the aggregate of 17,535, we find that from only 12,600 churches were reports received during the year for which the statement is made up. For 3,273 the figures were taken from the report of the year previous, in the absence of any later advices; and, for 1,662 more, estimates had to be made, in the absence even of returns a year old.

It will be seen here, as has been above indicated, that the census cuts in between the highest claim of the denomination and the number for which positive data can be shown. And in this the census conforms in an eminent degree to the reason of the case, inasmuch as it must be that many of the churches unreported are still in existence, possessing sufficient activity to justify their return by the assistant marshals, while many undoubtedly have, in the natural course of things, ceased to keep up even a form of life.

Going down from the total of the United States to the totals for States, (still within the same denomination,) we find an even clearer explanation of the same facts. The discrepancies are mainly in the Southern States, where the conditions of society, especially among the freedmen, are such as would account for even larger differences than exist. In Alabama the census reports but 786; the church statistics claim 1,054; but from only 489 of these were reports actually received during the year for which the returns were made up, 445 were taken from the report the year previous, and 120 were obtained purely by estimate. In Arkansas the census reports 463; the church statistics claim 539; but only 122 of these were obtained from the reports of the year 1870, 235 were taken from the report of 1869, and 182 were obtained by estimate. In North Carolina the census reports 951; the church statistics claim 1,235; but of these only 587 are obtained from reports of the year, 228 from reports of the year previous, and 420 by estimate. In Georgia the Census reports 1,364; the church statistics claim 1,946; but in 1869 only 1,478 were claimed, while the minutes of the State Baptist Convention, held at Cartersville April 21 to 24, 1871, show but 1,738, included in which are 225 taken from the minutes of 1869, 59 taken from minutes of 1868, and 250 taken from minutes of conventions held before the war. The comparison might be carried through all the Southern States with much the same results.

(a) The principal inquiry, under the head of Religion, in the schedule of the census law, viz: "Number of churches," is, unfortunately, ambiguous. As the censuses of 1850 and 1860 were taken, it is impossible to feel any assurance, in any particular case, whether church organizations or church edifices are returned in answer to the inquiry, "Number of churches." In preparation for the Ninth Census, this inquiry was divided into "Number of church organizations. Number of church edifices."

(b) The statistics of the Baptist Church for 1870 are presented in their Year-Book for 1871, in the form of a summary by States, and, also, to a great extent, in detail, by associations within each State. Where differences between the total and the items occur they are supposed to be the result of clerical errors in the preparation of the summary, or of typographical errors in printing it, and the detailed accounts have been assumed to be correct. The total number of churches, as given on page 80 of the Year-Book, is 17,745. An accurate compilation, however, of the details, so far as presented, gives 17,527 churches. To these are to be added 7 and 16, the numbers returned, in the summary only, for Delaware and District of Columbia respectively, and 10 for the difference between the total and the items given for West Virginia, which difference, it is supposed, equals the estimated number of churches belonging to the "Free Salvation" and "Indian Creek" associations, not otherwise accounted for, making a sum of 17,560, from which should be deducted the 25 churches claimed in the Indian Territory, as outside the field covered by the operations of the census, leaving 17,535, as stated above.

(c) On page 80 of the Year-Book the total number of churches for 1869 is stated at 15,143. (See preceding note.)

The least impartial consideration of the above facts must convince any one that in the aggregates of this denomination, in the Southern States especially, are included large numbers of congregations "in the bush," properly, it may be, to be reported from a denominational point of view, but hardly to be returned in the census, while there are also included many churches which have been destroyed by the violence of war, or have been merged with other organizations of the same church, or have fallen into hopeless decay, in the natural course of human institutions.

The only one of the Southern States where comparison between the statistics of the census and those of the church, and an analysis of the latter according to the plan above pursued, would induce the belief that the returns of the census, as between the two, were in fault, is the State of Texas, where the conditions attending the recent enumeration were so unfavorable, so almost hopeless, as to prevent the collection of social statistics in any degree satisfactory to the Census Office. The same admission of a failure to fully return the Baptist denomination might seem, at first glance, to be required (though in nothing like the same degree) in respect to the State of Virginia; but a comparison of the results in this State with those for West Virginia establishes the soundness of the statistics of the two States taken together, and justifies the suggestion that the officers charged with the compilation of these statements for denominational purposes have, not unnaturally, failed to divide the churches accurately between the old and the new State.

CONGREGATIONAL.

In respect to the Congregational Church, again, the difference between the statistics of the census and those of the denominational organs is decided, though by no means so extreme, as this denomination has never extended its agencies southward with any considerable success. The denomination claims 3,121; the Census allows 2,887. In this case the difference is partially accounted for (probably to the extent of between 50 and 60) by the later date (within the same year) of the statistics of the denomination. The remaining difference is explained by such facts as those contained in the "Annual Statistics" of the Congregational Quarterly for January, 1871. Nine hundred and three churches only are there stated to have settled pastors; 1,438 have "acting pastors;" 129 are supplied by licentiates and ministers of other denominations; and 651 are "vacant." The differences in respect to this denomination are found mainly at the West, where the large number of churches without either a stated ministry or a "supply," and the large number, also, (often the same churches,) without edifices of their own, afford ample scope for the operation of different rules of construction as to what constitutes a church for census purposes.

The most important discrepancy between the statistics of the denomination and those of the census, within any of the Eastern States, is in the State of Pennsylvania, where the agents of the census report 40 church organizations. The Congregational Quarterly claims 70; 6 only, however, having settled pastors, 31 having "acting pastors," and 33 being "vacant." In the case of 13 of the churches thus reported by the denomination, the Census Office received positive information from the postmasters of the towns or villages where they were said to be severally located that no such churches were in existence. Of the 17 remaining to be accounted for, the Census Office has been able to obtain no information of any kind through correspondence.

In Kentucky, again, the "Quarterly" claims 3 churches. The returns of the census show none; but in response to inquiries addressed to the pastors of 2 of the churches claimed by the "Quarterly," the Superintendent was informed that the churches should be classed, one as "Christian" and the other as "Baptist." The third is stated by the "Quarterly" to be located at "Camp Nelson," but, as there is neither town nor post-office by that name in the State of Kentucky, the inquiry could not be prosecuted. It may be assumed, however, that the statement of a church at that place is founded upon a tradition of some local and temporary organization effected during the war at the large and important camp then formed there.

In Arkansas the "Quarterly" reports 2 churches—the census none. For only 1, however, is the post-office address given by the "Quarterly;" and a letter addressed to the pastor of this church was returned to the Census Office by the postmaster, with the information that no church of the denomination existed in that vicinity. In respect to the other, (which the "Quarterly" admits to be without even a "supply,") no inquiry could be instituted, for the reason that no address was given. Instances of this character could be multiplied, but the foregoing will suffice.

It is not doubted that in some cases confusion has arisen in returning the three denominations known in the following tables as Congregational, Unitarian, and Universalist, on account of the common use in some sections, and to a limited extent, of the word "Congregational," as expressing merely the form of church government, without reference to distinctions of theological belief.

UNIVERSALIST.

The denomination last mentioned by name is also reported much below the number claimed by the official organs, by reason probably of the fact that this denomination has a larger proportion of congregations without permanent pastors than any other. For example: for the 16 Universalist churches reported in Missouri, only 1 pastor is, according to the New Covenant (a denominational organ) of February 12, 1870, wholly devoted to the ministry.

Of the 13 Universalist churches reported by the denominational Register and Almanac for 1871 as located in Kansas, only 5 claim to have the use of a church edifice; and of these two are known as "Union." The marshal of the district reports that he can only locate 1.

The discrepancies between the church statistics and the returns of the census in the case of the denominations hitherto specifically referred to, are, as will be seen above, susceptible of explanation.

UNITED BRETHREN IN CHRIST.

But the discrepancies which exist between the claims of the denomination and the statements of the census in respect to the church known as United Brethren in Christ, are wholly inexplicable, except upon an assumption of radical and total vice in the statistics of the church.

The denomination claims 3,753 church organizations. The census allows 1,445.

If the discrepancy were wholly or mainly confined to one or two States, it might seem reasonable to charge it to omissions on the part of the agents of the census. But a comparison of the figures of the census with a statement (a) prepared by the agent of the United Brethren Publishing House, at Dayton, Ohio, (the correctness of the statement being vouched for by one of the bishops of the church,) shows that the claims of the denomination so greatly exceed the figures of the census in every State in which it exists in any considerable strength, as to render it in the highest degree improbable, if not morally impossible, that the differences arise from the uniform negligence of the agents of the census in respect to this single church.

It is undoubtedly true that the erroneous application in some sections, and to a limited extent, of the name "German Methodists," would explain the occasional omission of societies properly belonging to this denomination; but the effect of this cause is not believed to have been considerable at the present census.

Something, also, must be allowed here—more, perhaps, than with denominations generally—for the effect of differing rules of construction as to what constitutes a church, according as the point of view of the denomination, or that of the census, is taken, in dealing with congregations occasionally gathered in school-houses or in private dwellings.

But after all reasonable allowance on these several accounts has been made, the Superintendent is compelled, from a careful examination of the subject, involving an extensive correspondence with the agents of the census, as well as with the officers of the church in question, to conclude that the denominational statistics are radically defective. In addition to the decided presumption in favor of the general correctness of the work of the sworn officers of the Government, to which nothing but assertion has been opposed by the representatives of the denomination, this conclusion is strongly supported by two considerations—

First. That the authorities of the denomination admit that they are unable to locate the churches they claim by towns or even by counties. Had such information been furnished, the investigation into the discrepancies existing would not have been dropped until the whole body of such differences had been canvassed by the Census Office, at whatever expense of time and labor. But the absence of anything approaching specific information regarding the location of these churches not only renders it impossible satisfactorily to determine the question at issue, but casts the greatest doubt upon the authority of the denominational statements.

Second. That the number of church organizations claimed by the authorities of the denomination bears an extraordinary and wholly unprecedented relation to the number of communicants reported. The Baptists average 80 communicants to a church organization; the Methodist Episcopal, 90; the Presbyterians, (North,) 98; the Reformed Church in America, 132, the highest average attained; the Evangelical Association, 74, the lowest. But the official organs of the United Brethren in Christ claim 3,753 churches with only 116,523 communicants, or an average of only 31 to a church. When it is considered that nearly if not quite two-thirds of the communicants of churches are, as a rule, women and minor children, we shall have as an average but 10 to 12 communicants among the adult males bearing the burden of the support of a church of this denomination—a most improbable supposition. But if we assume for the church an average number of communicants equal to that shown by the church having, of all those whose statistics on this subject are available, the smallest number, namely, the Evangelical Association, 74 members, we should have for the 116,523 communicants of the United Brethren in Christ, 1,575 churches, or only 130 in excess of the census. If, on the other hand, we assume for the denomination the average of the Reformed Church in America, viz, 132 communicants, we should have but 883 churches, or 562 below the census. If, again, we assume for the calculation the average of either the Baptist or the Methodist Episcopal Church, we should have a result in the first instance almost exactly coinciding with that exhibited in the following table, and in the second falling considerably below the number actually allowed by the census to the church under consideration.

CHRISTIAN AND DISCIPLES OF CHRIST.

In respect to two denominations, it is admitted that the census fails to make a discrimination required by the facts of the case. From causes, the remedy for which it was not within the power of this office to apply, it became necessary to combine the statistics of the denominations known severally as "Christian" and "Disciples of Christ." The members of the latter denomination, much the stronger of the two, are so frequently termed "Christians," indeed so commonly call themselves by that name, that persons who had not made a study of the subject might readily conclude that the denominations were one and the same, whereas they are, in fact, distinct in official name and style, in organization, and in doctrine.

As an example, not only of the confusion in the popular mind respecting these two churches, but also of the negligence of the officers and members of the several churches in characterizing their own organization and services, it may be mentioned that there is a church belonging to the "Disciples of Christ," within the city of Washington, which is not only commonly, and, indeed, universally spoken of as the "Christian Church," but whose Sunday services are habitually advertised by its own officers in the public prints as those of the "Christian Church," while the edifice in which the congregation worships is inscribed, in conspicuous letters, "Christian Church." It would be wonderful, indeed, when the error is thus daily made by those who should be most interested in maintaining the individuality of the two denominations, if the agents of the census had been found to have preserved the distinction.

Had each or either of these denominations been mainly confined to a distinct section of the Union, special efforts might have resulted in an approximate classification of the data furnished by the assistant marshals. But, in view of the fact that both bodies have their greatest strength in the same States, and oftentimes in the same quarter of the same State, and in view also of the frankly acknowledged inability of the officials of each denomination to whom application for assistance was made, to render any practical aid, it was deemed best to follow the precedent established in 1850 and 1860 of merging the two denominations under a single title.

The results here given are believed to present a fair statement of the combined strength of the two denominations.

One of the leading divines of the "Christians" gives the following estimate for that denomination as a whole in the United States, in answer to the inquiries of the Census Office, viz: church organizations, 1,100; church edifices, 1,050; church accommodation, 100,000; value of church property, $735,000.

PAUPERISM AND CRIME

IN THE UNITED STATES,

(BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.)

REMARKS ON THE STATISTICS OF PAUPERISM AND CRIME.

PAUPERISM.

The Superintendent, being well aware that the following table will be subject to severe criticism from certain specialists, has thought it best to prefix a full statement of the plan which has been followed in its construction, as well as to make a frank admission, as has been done in respect to some of the preceding tables of this volume, of occasional errors and deficiencies.

The necessity for a distinct exposition of the rules which govern in the treatment of the subject of Pauperism will be best appreciated after a comparison of the numbers which would respectively be returned under the several classifications possible, and indeed wholly reasonable, in this connection.

Returns from the county poor-houses and the city work and alms houses of the State of New York show that on the 1st of December, 1869, the actual number of the inmates of these institutions was 15,053. On the 1st of December, 1870, the aggregate number of inmates was 15,352. The date taken for this return, viz, the 1st of December, would probably not show quite so large a number of paupers as a date nearer the close of the winter; but December would certainly exhibit a larger number than any other month of the spring, summer, or autumn, excepting March, and possibly April, and is therefore to be regarded as presenting an unexceptionably fair average for the year.

Yet the books of the same institutions record the admission during the year, whose beginning and ending are thus defined, including those remaining at the beginning of the year, of no less than 59,136 "persons." In addition, the number of persons receiving temporary and partial out-door relief in the State of New York through the year in question (at an expense of $911,855.15) is returned at 101,796, making the total number of "persons" receiving aid from funds appropriated distinctly for the poor, 160,932.

But a still further extension of the list of public pensioners might, upon a possible, and indeed from its own point of view an entirely reasonable, theory of the case, be claimed and allowed. The immigration commissioners for New York report having expended during the year 1869 $330,000 for the relief of poor immigrants. There was also appropriated from the treasury of the State, or of the city of New York under laws of the State, during the same year, in assistance to hospitals, dispensaries, infirmaries, asylums, &c., the sum of $1,903,075.59.

Allowing for the persons participating in the benefits of these expenditures, we should have the State poor very considerably increased, even above the enormous numbers already expressed.

The number of persons given in the following table as "supported during the year," for the State of New York, is 26,152.

The foregoing statements will sufficiently illustrate the importance of having the tables of Pauperism for the several States and Territories made up upon a uniform plan.

It was the want of such uniformity of construction, in connection with manifest looseness in the collection of material, which yielded such impossible and altogether irrational results in the publication of the census of 1860, as New York, with a population of 3,880,735, having a pauperism of 164,782, (average cost per head less than $9,) while Pennsylvania, with a population of 2,906,215, in the same general condition of settlement and industry, showed only 16,463 persons supported during the year, (at a cost of something over $40 a head:) Michigan, with a population of only 749,113, having a pauper list of 9,104, (average, $12,) while Illinois, with a population of 1,711,951, was returned with only 4,628, (average, $42:) Massachusetts, with a population of 1,231,065, engaged principally in manufactures, having a pauperism of 51,880, (average, $11,) while Connecticut, also a manufacturing State, with a population of 460,147, was returned with only 1,044 paupers, (average, $31.) Comparisons like these, which might be extended through pretty much the whole list of the then existing States, show at a glance that no effort was made at the Eighth Census to impose anything like a uniform rule upon the returns of Pauperism; that some States were returned with a pauper list three, five, or ten times as large as States in the same general condition of settlement and industry, for no other reason than that in one State the aggregate cost of poor relief was practically divided by the known cost of sustaining one pauper one year, and the quotient taken for the number of persons supported during the year, while in another State all persons entering a work or alms house for ever so limited a period were included, and, in a third, every person receiving so much as a half ton of coal in a hard winter or a dozen soup-tickets was set down among the State's poor. While claiming in respect to this as little as in respect to any other class of the statistics of the census, and indeed less with respect to this than to almost any other, absolute accuracy, the Superintendent must claim the credit of having attempted to introduce as fully as, with the vicious machinery of the present census law, was possible, discrimination and order into the returns of Pauperism.

In a country presenting such wide diversity in the conditions of life, settlement, and industry as the United States, four things would be essential to anything like a complete exhibit of the Pauperism of all the States:

First. The number of persons actually inmates of asylums, alms and work houses, on one or more days certain during the year. It would be desirable that three or four dates should be taken for the count. If, however, only a single return could be obtained, the date taken should be as strictly representative of the year as possible. This condition the day previously indicated as taken for the return in New York, viz, December 1, fairly answers. The census date, June 1, is as little representative as any could be.

Second. The amount of pauperism calculated impersonally, i. e., by dividing the aggregate expenditure for poor-support by the ascertained cost of maintaining, in each State and section by turns, one pauper for one year.

Third. The number of persons who, for any period, however limited, from beginning to close of the year, become inmates of any of the different classes of charitable institutions.

Fourth. The number of persons receiving, in any form and in any degree, relief or assistance in money or by supplies at the public expense.

Nothing less than the above would put the statistician, the economist, or the social philosopher in a position to work out all the relations of the Pauperism of such a country as this to the social and economical interests of the people. But unfortunately the census law of 1850 allows the authorities and agents of the census to compass but two of the four points of importance in the consideration of the subject. One of the two is the number of inmates of asylums, alms and work houses on a day certain, corresponding to the first of the series of four just enumerated. The other of the two questions which the law allows may, by the authorities of the census, be made at their discretion to cover any one of the three remaining points, and of necessity must leave the other two uncovered.

The phraseology of the law on this subject, "number supported during the year," is, as usual, ambiguous. It would certainly be within the scope of administrative construction to determine this inquiry to meet any one of the three following points:

First. Number supported during, i. e., throughout, the year. The philological argument is rather in favor of this construction. This would give the impersonal amount of pauperism, provided, at least, it were held legitimate, as it clearly might be, to reduce partial to total support at the ascertained cost of the latter.

Second. The number during the year receiving support, greater or less, in public institutions, i. e., receiving support at any time and for any time "during the year," i. e., within the year.

Third. The number receiving support, i. e., assistance, at public expense, as above, but without reference to the manner in which such assistance be rendered, whether total support in alms and work houses, or occasional out-door relief.

It being within the discretion of the authorities of the census to direct the one remaining inquiry of the census so as to reach one of these three points, the effort has been made at the present census to bring the returns as nearly as practicable to what may be termed the solid amount of Pauperism.

The reasons which controlled the Census Office in selecting this in preference to any other form of returning Pauperism were as follows:

First. The most exact single expression possible for the actual Pauperism of a country is undoubtedly obtained by dividing the aggregate cost of support by the ascertained cost of supporting one pauper for one year. This gives the amount of Pauperism, reducing it to a solid form, and affording opportunity for easy and just comparison between States and sections.

Second. The number of "persons" shown, by the records of asylums, alms and work houses to have been received and discharged during the year, is largely fictitious, sometimes even to the extent of one-half, two-thirds, or five-sixths. An individual of the pauper class will sometimes put in as many appearances during the year at the almshouse, as an individual of the criminal class at the police court; and when he has worn out his welcome at all the institutions of the metropolis, by turns, will make the tour of the provinces. In fact, at many city almshouses, almost the only steady boarders, besides young children, are the insane, the blind, and the crippled. Such facts are too notorious to require extended evidence. An analysis of the returns of the county and city alms and work houses for the State of New York affords a striking illustration. Of the 15,352 inmates on the 1st of December, 1870, 5,517 were stated to be children under sixteen years of age, or to be insane, idiotic, blind, or deaf and dumb. These persons, it may be assumed, did not move about to any appreciable extent, but belonged permanently to the personnel of their respective institutions. Deducting these 5,517 from the entire body of inmates, we have but 9,835 who, in the absence of any stated disability, may be assumed, for the purpose of this argument, to belong potentially to the vagabond class of paupers, although large numbers even of these must have been disabled for self-removal by reason of being crippled or maimed. The records of these institutions, however, show that not less than 59,136 "persons" were admitted during the year. Deducting the same 5.517, we have 53,619 entries during the year, to 9,835 actual inmates (not disabled as above) on a day certain, which day, December 1, may be accepted as fairly representative of the year. Such facts as these show how little the record of "admissions" to poor-houses can be taken as affording a just measure of Pauperism.

Third. Not only do the difficulties of the work increase almost indefinitely as we seek to carry our inquiries out to determine, free of duplications, the actual number of persons receiving temporary and partial assistance, out of doors, from public funds; but the value of the results diminishes with much the same rapidity. If it were practicable, it would certainly be of curious interest to know the exact number of persons thus relieved in any city or section of the country; but when we consider that the relief thus extended ranges from partial support to the most trifling assistance—a bushel of coal, a few soup-tickets, or even a single dinner, in some cities being scrupulously made a matter of record and report—it must appear plain that these are not the facts in respect to poor-support which are to be obtained at the sacrifice of those which could be used to determine with approximate accuracy the absolute amount of Pauperism, its bearing on the social system, and its burden on the industry of the country.

For the reasons above indicated, the Census Office has sought to compass in the following table the positive amount of Pauperism in each State and Territory, reduced to permanent and entire support. No one who appreciates the lack of system which exists in ninety-nine out of one hundred of even the important communities of this land in respect to matters of this kind, the general absence of well-kept and properly-posted records, and the frequent indifference of officials to statistical or scientific inquiries, will be surprised to find much in this table, after all has been done which the existing law authorizes and enables the Census Office to do, which cannot be said to consist strictly with any single rule.

The cost of support varies greatly in city and in country, and very much also according to the system of poor-relief adopted. The difference between city and country may be stated approximately as follows: Annual cost of support in rural districts, $75 to $90; annual cost in cities and large towns $90 to $125. The local system of poor-relief, however, enters, sometimes to equalize these expenditures, and sometimes to exaggerate the differences above indicated. Under a system uniform throughout the State, it happens in more than one State that the paupers in purely rural districts are maintained quite as expensively as the poor of the largest cities.

Unquestionably the most economical method of treating the pauperism of a community is found in the town farm system. Land, buildings, and farming-tools being provided by the town, only one salary, that of the overseer, requiring to be paid, and the labor of the paupers being employed to the full extent of their physical ability, the annual charge of support in the States using this agency is reduced to a minimum, often not exceeding sixty or even fifty dollars. When it is remembered that an able-bodied laborer, engaged in agriculture in this country, can without difficulty provide food for himself and for three, four, or five persons dependent on him, it will appear wholly reasonable that even the partial and ineffective labor of the pauper on the town farm should so far reduce the cost to the State of his maintenance. In those States, on the other hand, where paupers are gathered into large establishments, with numerous officials and expensive appointments, and with no opportunity for employing the inmates productively, all articles of food and clothing have to be directly purchased by the State, and the cost of support rises to $100, $125, and even $140. In the mining States and Territories, where all articles of merchandise bear high prices, and where the number of paupers to be maintained is not sufficiently large to make it important to rigidly reduce expenditure on this account, the average cost of support rises to even a higher figure.

In addition to the points already discussed, two questions remain as to what elements shall or shall not be included in the statistics of Pauperism:

First. Shall the amounts expended in the immediate relief of poor immigrants by the immigration commissioners of New York and other large ports of entry be regarded, for the purposes of the following table, as forming a part of the poor-support of those cities and of the States in which they are severally situated? The amount thus expended by the immigration commissioners of New York during the year 1869 was, as already stated, $330,000. The amount so expended at other points must have been considerable.

The Superintendent is disposed to hold that such an expenditure should be regarded merely as incidental to a gigantic system of immigration directly encouraged by the Government. While immigrants continue to arrive at our shores by hundreds of thousands each year, it is a matter of course that some, from sickness, from failure through ignorance to make proper provision, from accidents of one sort and another, and last, not least, from the villainies of the organized hordes of ruffians which beset our immigrant ships, will have occasion, in a wholly strange land, to appeal for temporary assistance to the guardians by law appointed over them. This is hardly Pauperism in any proper sense, and until the immigrant has passed from under the control of the commissioners of immigration into the condition of a recognized and registered inmate of some asylum or almshouse, he cannot be said to constitute one of the paupers of the city or the State.

Second. Shall the amounts paid from the treasuries of States, counties, or cities toward the support of charitable institutions of the various classes known to modern philanthropy, hospitals, dispensaries, asylums for the insane, the idiotic, the blind, the deaf and dumb, be included in such tables as the following?

Here, again, the best reason of the case seems to be in favor of the stricter construction and the exclusion of these elements as not pertaining to the proper poor-support of the country.

The pauperism of the afflicted classes, inmates of such institutions, is to be regarded as an incident of their several disabilities or infirmities. Some of these persons would undoubtedly be paupers were they not so afflicted; but far more are only paupers because they are thus afflicted, and while thus afflicted. The greater fact, the principal, is properly the one in contemplation; the minor, the incident, may justly be disregarded in such a compilation as the present. One point certainly can be successfully maintained, and it is conclusive of the question, were there nothing else to be said, viz: that the framers of the census law did not have it in contemplation that the beneficiaries of hospitals, dispensaries, and asylums distinctly for the blind, the sick, or the insane would be embraced in the returns of the census.

If it were worth while to accumulate reasons, it might further be said that the inclusion of these classes in the Pauperism of the country would be a troublesome precedent in view of the acknowledged fact that nineteen-twentieths of the academies, colleges, and professional schools of the country are, by virtue of their endowments, accumulated often through several generations, rendered mainly eleemosynary, and that not one-half, perhaps not one-fourth of those who now enjoy their advantages could aspire to do so if required to pay the real cost of what is thus furnished them.

CRIME.

The necessity for a discriminating treatment of the returns of assistant marshals is even more evident in respect to the statistics of Crime than has been noted in the remarks above upon the statistics of Pauperism, while on the other hand the difficulties of the subject are found to be much greater.

No single measure can be taken for determining the proportions of crime in the several communities of our country.

It is easy, by a simple arithmetical process, to obtain the solid amount of Pauperism, but not so of Crime. The absence of any effort to reduce to a consistent body the returns on this subject at the last census led to similar misrepresentations of States and sections as have been noted in the published statistics of Pauperism, Pennsylvania, for example, being returned with but 2,930 convictions during the year, while New York, with a population only a little larger and in much the same social and industrial condition, was returned with 58,067, or nearly twenty times as many as Pennsylvania. It would not even require the most casual acquaintance with the communities thus characterized, or stigmatized, to establish the certainty that such statements could not be true. Human nature, with its opportunities and its temptations, does not vary to that extent with two degrees of latitude.

Returns thus out of all proportion were due to the fact that in the former State convictions of crime before courts of record only were taken for the census returns, while in the latter the convictions of police and justices' courts were indifferently admitted. Again, in another class of cases, the returns from one State would be restricted to convictions for grave offenses, without reference to the character of the tribunal, while in a neighboring State convictions for the most petty offenses were equally considered.

In the preparation of the following tables the effort has been made to reduce the material to something like consistency and uniformity. Of course it is not possible, with the inadequate inquiries authorized to be made by the act of 1850, and with the more inadequate agencies provided for the prosecution of these inquiries, to present the criminal statistics of the States satisfactorily, according to any idea or plan. Even to present the most summary view of the subject with anything approaching success, it would be indispensable that the Census Office be furnished with a statement of the convictions in each State, classified according to the crimes for which convictions were had. This the scheme of enumeration in use in the United States does not provide for. So far as it has been practicable to obtain the information at the Census Office by subsequent correspondence, it has been done without consideration of the amount of labor involved therein, and the following table has been corrected accordingly.

Owing to the fact that the constitution of courts of record in the several States varies greatly as to the crimes over which they have jurisdiction, it has not been found practicable to make this table strictly one of convictions for crimes by courts of record. The effort has been, however, to make the returns for each State an equivalent for those of every other, and the results are now submitted with the remark that neither the statements of Crime nor those of Pauperism for the year are regarded as possessing any high degree of statistical authority. They are believed, however, to contain a very much larger amount of exact and of approximate information than it is in the power of any individual or of any other public agency to collect. The numbers reported respectively as receiving poor-support, and as in prison on the 1st of June,1870, are regarded as quite accurately determined. Errors may be found to exist, but an extensive correspondence on the part of the Census Office has established their substantial accuracy and completeness.

From the number in prison have been excluded the inmates of houses of refuge, houses of correction, and institutions of kindred character.

HISTORICAL NOTES RESPECTING THE ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY BY THE UNITED STATES; THE ERECTION OF EXISTING AND OBSOLETE POLITICAL DIVISIONS OF THE UNITED STATES, AND THEIR SUCCESSIVE CHANGES IN ORGANIZATION AND AREA.*

ACQUISITION OF TERRITORY BY THE UNITED STATES.

CESSIONS BY STATES.—Prior to 1781, six only of the original thirteen States, viz: New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware, had exactly defined boundaries. Of the remaining seven States, some claimed to extend to the Pacific Ocean and others to the Mississippi River. The States with inexact boundaries ceded their claims to lands west of their present limits in succession, as follows: March 1, 1781, New York. March 1, 1784, Virginia; the cession including the State of Kentucky and the parts of the States of Illinois, Ohio, and Indiana which lie south of the Forty-first parallel. Virginia reserved from this cession for military bounty lands the entire territory, 6,570 square miles, between the Scioto and Little Miami Rivers, from their sources to the River Ohio. April 19, 1785, Massachusetts; including her claims to territory west of the present western boundary of the State of New York. September 14, 1786, Connecticut; the cession being the territory between the parallels of 41° and 40° 2′, and west of a north and south line drawn one hundred and twenty miles west of the present western boundary of the State of Pennsylvania. Connecticut then ceded all land and jurisdiction west of that territory, now situated in the State of Ohio, and yet known as "The Western Reserve of Connecticut." August 9, 1787, South Carolina; the territory ceded being a strip of land about twelve miles wide, south of the Thirty-fifth parallel and extending along the southern boundaries of the States of North Carolina and Tennessee to the Mississippi River. February 25, 1790, North Carolina; the cession constituting the State of Tennessee. This cession was accepted by Congress April 2, 1790. May 30, 1800, Connecticut; yielding all territory and jurisdiction west of her present area, and reserving the right of soil in the "Western Reserve," which lies between the parallels and meridians above recited. June 16, 1802, Georgia, receiving that part of the cession of South Carolina lying within her present limits, ceded all between her present western boundary and the Mississippi River, and between the South Carolina cession and the Thirty-first parallel. The foregoing cessions secured to the General Government all territory ceded by Great Britain, not included in the original thirteen States, as in the main now bounded. November 25, 1850, the State of Texas ceded all her claims to lands west of the Twenty-sixth meridian (103d Greenwich) and between 32° and 36° 30′ of latitude.

CESSIONS BY FOREIGN POWERS.—September 3, 1783, by Treaty with Great Britain the territory of the United States was declared to extend from the Atlantic Ocean westward to the Mississippi River, and from a line along the great lakes on the north, southward to the Thirty-first parallel and the southern border of Georgia.

April 30, 1803, by Treaty with France the "Province of Louisiana" was ceded. Its western boundary as finally adjusted, February 22, 1819, by Treaty with Spain, ran up the Sabine River, to and along the Seventeenth meridian, (94th Greenwich,) to and along the Red River, to and along the Twenty-third meridian, (100th Greenwich,) to and along the Arkansas River, to and along the Rocky Mountains, to and along the Twenty-ninth meridian, (106th Greenwich,) to and along the Forty-second parallel to the Pacific Ocean. Its northern boundary has conformed to the boundary established between the British possessions and the United States. On the east it was bounded by the Mississippi River as far south as the Thirty-first parallel, where different boundaries were claimed. The United States construed the cession of France to include all the territory between the Thirty-first parallel and the Gulf of Mexico, and between the Rivers Mississippi and Perdido, the latter of which is now the western boundary of the State of Florida. Under this construction of the cession, the "Province of Louisiana" is now covered by those portions of the States of Alabama, D, and Mississippi, Au, which lie south of the Thirty-first parallel; by the States of Louisiana, Arkansas, Missouri, Iowa, Nebraska, Oregon, Minnesota west of the Mississippi River, and Kansas, [except, Ak, the small portion thereof south of the Arkansas River and west of the Twenty-third meridian, (100th Greenwich;)] by the Territories of Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington, and that known as the Indian Country; and by the portion of the Territory of Colorado lying east of the Rocky Mountains and north of the Arkansas River, and all of the Territory of Wyoming north of the Forty-second parallel, and that portion of the Territory of Wyoming which is south of that parallel and east of the Rocky Mountains. In 1800, however, the "Province of Louisiana" had been ceded by Spain to France, Spain claiming that she ceded to France no territory east of the Mississippi River except the "Island of New Orleans," and also contending that her province of West Florida included all of the territory south of the Thirty-first parallel and between the Perdido and Mississippi Rivers, except the "Island of New Orleans." Under this construction, the "Province of Louisiana" included on the east of the Mississippi River only the territory bounded on the north and east by the "Rivers Iberville and Amite and by the Lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain."

*The italic letters appearing throughout these Notes designate the parcels of territory which are described on pages 561 to 567, which are included in the table on pages 588 to 591, and are delineated on the map which faces page 574.

February 22, 1819, Spain formally ceded the territory now covered by the State of Florida and by those portions of the States of Alabama, D, and Mississippi, Au, which lie south of the Thirty-first parallel, and by that portion of Louisiana, An, which lies east of the Mississippi River and is not included in the "Island of New Orleans." This territory was styled by Spain the "Provinces of East and West Florida." Previous to this cession, by the authority of the Joint Resolution of January 15, 1811, and the Acts of January 15, 1811, and March 3, 1811, passed in secret session, and first published in 1818, the United States had taken possession of the East and West Floridas. By Treaty of January 12, 1828, between the United States and the United Mexican States, the boundary (see ante) of the "Province of Louisiana," which was established by treaty with Spain when Mexico was a part of the Spanish monarchy, was agreed upon as the boundary between the two republics.

December 29, 1845, Texas, formerly a portion of Mexico, and later an independent republic, was admitted to the Union.

February 2, 1848, Mexico ceded the territory now covered by the States of California and Nevada; also her claims to the territory covered by the present State of Texas, by the Territories of Utah, Arizona, and New Mexico, by portions of the Territories of Wyoming and Colorado, and by the unorganized territory west of the Indian Country, except that part of the Territory of Arizona, Ck, and that part of the Territory of New Mexico, Cl, lying south of the River Gila and west of the old boundary of New Mexico, which lands were ceded by Mexico December 30, 1853, and are known as the Gadsden Purchase.

By Treaty of March 30, 1867, exchange of ratification and transfer of title having been made June 20, 1867, Russia ceded Alaska. This cession made the line between the continent of Asia and America the northwestern boundary of the territory of the United States, and extended the territory of the United States northward to the Arctic Ocean. On the east this cession was bounded by a line beginning at the southernmost point of Prince of Wales Island (parallel of 54° 40′) and running north along Portland Channel to the junction of the Fifty-sixth parallel of north latitude with the continent, and thence, along the summit of the mountains parallel to the coast, to and along the One hundred and forty-first meridian, to the Arctic Ocean. But where the crest of the mountains skirting the coast from the specified parallel to the meridian is more than ten marine leagues from the ocean, there the boundary is a line not more than ten marine leagues from the coast and parallel to its windings. This cession is separated from the main territory of the United States by the western part of the British possessions between the parallels of 54° 40′ and 49° of north latitude.

THE POLITICAL DIVISIONS OF THE UNITED STATES.

The Original Thirteen States ratified the Constitution of the United States in succession, as follows: December 7, 1787, Delaware; December 12, 1787, Pennsylvania; December 18, 1787, New Jersey; January 2, 1788, Georgia; January 9, 1788, Connecticut; February 6, 1788, Massachusetts; April 28, 1788, Maryland; May 23, 1788, South Carolina; June 21, 1788, New Hampshire; June 26, 1788, Virginia; July 26, 1788, New York; November 21, 1789, North Carolina; May 29, 1790, Rhode Island.

The other States and the Territories were successively organized as political divisions of the United States as follows:

The Territory Northwest of the River Ohio.—By Ordinance of July 13, 1787, formed out of the cession from Virginia, being that part of the Territory south of the Forty-first parallel, and out of other territory acquired from Great Britain by the Treaty of 1783, being the part of the Territory north of the Forty-first parallel. Article V of this Ordinance provided that there should be formed from this territory not less than three nor more than five States; that three of the States should extend from the Ohio River northward; that the boundaries between these three States should be established as in the Ordinance described; and that Congress should have authority to form one or two other States out of that part of the Territory which lay north of an east and west line drawn through the southernmost extremity of Lake Michigan. The provisions of this article have been carried into effect by the erection, on the Ohio River, of the States of Ohio, Indiana, and Illinois, separated by the boundaries prescribed by the ordinance, and out of the land north of them of the States of Michigan, Wisconsin, and that part, Z, of the State of Minnesota which lies east of the Mississippi River.

THE TERRITORY SOUTH OF THE RIVER OHIO.—By Act of May 26, 1790, declared to be "one district" for the purpose of temporary government, and its government constituted like that of the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio, except as otherwise provided in the Act of April 2, 1790, accepting from North Carolina the cession of the State of Tennessee. The district included the territory comprehended in the present States of Kentucky and Tennessee and the territory (T, A, and Cm) ceded to the United States by the State of South Carolina. It was limited on the south by the original State of Georgia, U, and by As and B, which were ceded by the State of Georgia in 1802, and which by Act of March 27, 1804, became a part of Mississippi Territory.

THE DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA.—By Article I, Section 8, of the Constitution of the United States, Congress is empowered "to exercise exclusive legislation in all cases whatsoever over such district (not exceeding ten miles square,) as may, by cession of particular States and the acceptance of Congress, become the seat of government of the United States." The State of Maryland, by Act of December 23, 1788, ceded to Congress territory ten miles square for the seat of government of the United States. The State of Virginia, by Act of December 3, 1789, ceded territory ten miles square, or a less quantity, to the United States in Congress assembled, for the same purpose. By Act of July 16, 1790, amended March 3, 1791, these cessions were accepted, and made the permanent seat of government of the United States; and by the latter act the President was empowered to fix the boundaries within certain limits. By Proclamation of the President, March 30, 1791, a district ten miles square—from the State of Maryland, Co, sixty-four square miles, and from the State of Virginia, Cn, thirty-six square miles—was located and bounded. By Act of February 27, 1801, Congress assumed exclusive jurisdiction. By Act of July 9, 1846, the cession of Virginia (Cn) was retroceded.

VERMONT.—By Act of February 18, 1791, to take effect March 4, 1791, admitted as a State; formed from New York.

KENTUCKY.—By Act of February 4, 1791, to take effect June 1, 1792, admitted as a State; formed from Virginia.

TENNESSEE.—By Act of June 1, 1796, admitted as a State; territory ceded by North Carolina.

MISSISSIPPI TERRITORY.—By Act of April 7, 1798, formed subject to the claims of the State of Georgia to the jurisdiction and soil thereof, afterward ceded by the State of Georgia to the United States; bounded west by the Mississippi River, north by a line from the mouth of the Yazoo River due east to the Chattahoochee River, east by the Chattahoochee River, and south by the Thirty-first parallel. Consisted of C and At. From 1764 to 1783 these parcels were part of the British Province of West Florida, which included also all of the territory south of the 31st parallel and between the River Appalachicola on the east, and Lakes Pontchartrain and Maurepas and the River Mississippi on the west. By Treaty with Great Britain, in 1783, the portion of this Province north of the 31st parallel (C and At) was ceded to the United States, while the remainder was, by Treaty of the same year, ceded to Spain. These facts secured to the United States a title to the parcels in question (C and At) anterior to, and independent of, the cession by Georgia. By Act of March 27, 1804, there was added all that territory (A, B, As, and Cm) ceded by the States of Georgia and South Carolina, and lying between the Mississippi River and the State of Georgia, and between the territory as above bounded and the State of Tennessee. By Act of May 14, 1812, there was added the territory (D and Au) ceded by Spain, lying between the Pearl and Perdido Rivers. The whole Territory has since been absorbed by the States of Alabama and Mississippi.

INDIANA.—By Act of May 7, 1800, to take effect July 4, 1800, formed as a Territory from the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio. It consisted of all of the last-mentioned territory west of the present eastern boundary of the State of Indiana extended northward to the international boundary line, (Ab, Ac, Ad, Ae, Cg, W, X, Y, and Z.) By Act of April 30, 1802, that part (Ar, Bs) of the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio which was not included in the State of Ohio was annexed to the Territory of Indiana, which, by this increase, was extended eastward to include the whole of that now known as the lower peninsula of Michigan. By Act of March 26, 1804, to take effect October 1, 1804, (the act dividing the "Province of Louisiana," ceded by France, into the Territory of Orleans and the District of Louisiana,) the District of Louisiana, being all of the French cession west of the Mississippi River except the present State of Louisiana, (see cession by France, ante,) was committed to the government of the officers of the Territory of Indiana. By Act of April 19, 1816, the southern portion of the Territory of Indiana was enabled to become a State. By Joint Resolution of December 11, 1816, the same was admitted as a State.

OHIO.—By Act of June 30, 1802, formed as a State out of that part (Br) of the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio, which remained after the erection of the Territory of Indiana, by excluding all of that remainder lying north of a line drawn due east through the southernmost extremity of Lake Michigan. By the Act of June 15, 1836, (the enabling act for the State of Michigan,) and the Act of June 23, 1836, the northern boundary of the State was "established by and extended to" a direct line running from the southern extremity of Lake Michigan to the most northerly cape of Miami Bay, thence in Lake Erie to the international boundary line and to the Pennsylvania line. By this legislation Bs was added to the State.

LOUISIANA.—By Act of March 26, 1804, to take effect October 1, 1804, the southern part (Am) of the "Province of Louisiana," ceded by France, was constituted the Territory of Orleans, which, on the east of the Mississippi River, included only the land south of the "Rivers Iberville and Amite and the Lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain." By Act of February 20, 1811, the same was enabled to become a State; by Act of April 8, 1812, to take effect April 30, 1812, the same was admitted as a State, with the name of Louisiana. By Act of April 14, 1812, there was added the territory (An) east of the Mississippi River and north of the "Rivers Iberville and Amite and Lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain."

MISSOURI.—By Act of March 26, 1804, to take effect October 1, 1804, formed from the northern part of the "Province of Louisiana," and styled the District of Louisiana, but committed to the government of the officers of the Territory of Indiana. Its southern boundary was the present southern boundary of Arkansas, and it contained all the lands of the United States west of the Mississippi River not within the State of Louisiana. By Act of March 3, 1805, the same was organized as the Territory of Louisiana; by Act of June 4, 1812, to take effect on the first Monday of December, 1812, the same was reorganized as the Territory of Missouri. By Act of March 6, 1820, the northern part, Av, of the Territory of Missouri, bounded as the present State of Missouri, except on the west, where it was limited by the meridian passing through the confluence of the Kansas and Missouri Rivers, was enabled to become a State under the name of Missouri. By Joint Resolution of March 2, 1821, admission of the same as a State further provided for; by Proclamation of August 10, 1821, admitted as a State. By Act of June 7, 1836, which took effect by the Proclamation of March 28, 1837, the western boundary of the State was extended to the Missouri River.

MICHIGAN.—By Act of January 11, 1805, to take effect June 30, 1805, formed as a Territory from the Territory of Indiana. It then consisted of Bs, Ab, Ad, and Ar, being mainly that known as the lower peninsula of Michigan, and bounded on the west and northwest by a line "through the middle of said lake [Michigan] northwardly to its northern extremity, and thence due north to the northern boundary of the United States, and on the south by a line drawn due east from the southern extremity of Lake Michigan." By Act of April 19, 1816, and Joint Resolution of December 11, 1816, Ab was taken into the State of Indiana. By Act of April 18, 1818, (the enabling act for the State of Illinois,) there was added to the Territory Ae, Cg, X, Y, and Z, being all that part of the former Territory of Indiana lying north of and not included in the State of Indiana, and that part of the Territory of Illinois which was not included in the State of Illinois. This addition extended the Territory westward to the Mississippi River. By Act of June 28, 1834, there was added to the Territory the territory (Af, Ag, Ah, Ai, and N) between the Mississippi River on the east and the Missouri and White Earth Rivers on the west, and between the northern boundaries of the States of Missouri and Illinois on the south and the international boundary line on the north. The Territory then extended from Lakes Huron and Erie westward to the Missouri River. By Act of June 15, 1836, enabled to become a State as now bounded; by Act of January 26, 1837, the same was admitted as a State The remainder of the Territory of Michigan was afterward absorbed by the States of Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and a part (N) of the Territory of Dakota.

ILLINOIS.—By Act of February 3, 1809, to take effect March 1, 1809, formed as a Territory from the Territory of Indiana; was then bounded on the east by the present eastern boundary of the State of Illinois, extended northward to the international boundary line, on the north by British America, and on the west and southwest by the Mississippi River. By Act of April 18, 1818, enabled to become a State as now bounded; by Joint Resolution of December 3, 1818, the same was admitted as a State.

MISSISSIPPI.—By Act of March 1, 1817, formed from the western part of the final Territory of Mississippi and enabled to become a State; by Joint Resolution of December 10, 1817, admitted as a State.

ALABAMA.—By Act of March 3, 1817, formed as a Territory from the eastern part of the final Territory of Mississippi; by Act of March 2, 1819, enabled to become a State; by Joint Resolution of December 14, 1819, admitted as a State.

ARKANSAS.—By Act of March 2, 1819, formed as the Arkansaw Territory from the southern part of the Territory of Missouri; by Act of June 15, 1836, the same was admitted as the State of Arkansas.

MAINE.—By Act of March 3, 1820, to take effect March 15, 1820, admitted as a State; formed from Massachusetts.

FLORIDA.—By Act of March 30, 1822, made a Territory; by Act of March 3, 1845, admitted as a State; territory ceded by Spain.

THE INDIAN COUNTRY is a geographical but not an organized political division of the United States. By Act of June 30, 1834, regulating trade and intercourse with Indians, this Country was declared to be "all that part of the United States west of the Mississippi [River] and not within the States of Missouri and Louisiana and the Territory of Arkansas." This Act limited the Indian Country on the east by the present western boundaries of the States of Missouri and Arkansas, and north of these boundaries by the Mississippi River, on the west by the Pacific Ocean, and on the north and south by international boundaries. As the different tracts of land, which from time to time have been set apart, for the use of Indians, on the east side of the River Mississippi, have always been included within the boundaries of some political division, so this Indian Country on the west of this river was, when first bounded by the above-cited statute, identical in extent with the organized Territory of Missouri. The Country and the Territory have alike suffered successive losses of the same areas, and the Territory the loss of organization, until the government and the name of the Territory of Missouri have become obsolete, and the present Indian Country contains all of the land of the once Territory of Missouri which has not been absorbed by other political divisions. In 1850 the boundaries of the Indian Country were as follows: On the east, the present western boundaries of the States of Missouri and Arkansas; on the south, the Red River; on the west, the Twenty-third meridian (100th Greenwich) as far north as the Arkansas River, and along that river to the intersection of the Rocky Mountains and the Twenty-ninth meridian, (106th Greenwich,) and along that meridian northward to the proposed southern boundary of the original Territory of Nebraska, which became the northern limit of this Country. Within these limits, however, is included that part of the territory ceded by Texas to the United States which was not included in the Territory of New Mexico, being a parcel of land between the Arkansas River on the north and the present northernmost boundary of the State of Texas, and between the Twenty-third and Twenty-sixth meridians, (100th and 103d Greenwich.) Including this latter territory, the area of the Indian Country at 1850 was 195,274 square miles. By Act of May 30, 1854, the Territory of Kansas was erected, and its southern boundary, from the State of Missouri to the Twenty-third meridian, (100th Greenwich,) became the northern limit of the Indian Country. The limits of the Indian Country remain as they were left by that act; area, 68,991 square miles. A part of the territory above mentioned as ceded by the State of Texas was included in the Territory of Kansas. The residue, bounded on the north by the Territory of Colorado and the State of Kansas, on the east by the Indian Country, on the south by the State of Texas, and on the west by the Territory of New Mexico, and included between 36° 30′ and 37° of latitude and the Twenty-third and Twenty-sixth meridians, (100th and 103d Greenwich,) having an estimated area of 10,800 square miles, still remains an unorganized portion of the public domain. In the construction of the subsequent Area table, for convenience, the area of this last-mentioned unorganized territory has been included in that of the Indian Country.

WISCONSIN.—By Act of April 20, 1836, to take effect July 3, 1836, formed as a Territory out of lands originally acquired by Treaty of Peace with Great Britain, in 1783, and other lands which were a part of the French cession. At the date of this act all these lands were in the Territory of Michigan. The part east of the Mississippi, (X, Z, and Cg.) had formerly been successively in the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio, and the Territories of Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan. The part of the Territory (Af, Ag, Ah, Ai, and N) west of the Mississippi River had formerly been in the Territory of Michigan. As so constituted the Territory of Wisconsin was bounded on the east, northeast, and on the south as far to the west as the Mississippi River by the present boundaries of the State of Wisconsin; on the south, going westward from the Mississippi River, by the present northern boundary of the State of Missouri; on the west by the Missouri River, and on the north by the international boundary line. By Act of June 12, 1838, all of the Territory (Af, Ag, Ah, Ai, and N) west of the Mississippi River and of a line due north from the sources of that river to the international boundary line, was taken to form the Territory of Iowa. By Act of August 6, 1846, the Territory thus reduced in size was enabled to become a State, as now bounded; by Act of May 29, 1848, admitted as a State. The remainder of the Territory of Wisconsin not included in the Territory of Iowa or in the State of Wisconsin was, in 1849, included in the Territory of Minnesota.

IOWA.—By Act of June 12, 1838, to take effect July 3, 1838, formed as a Territory from the Territory of Wisconsin, and included all the territory (Af, Ag, Ah, Ai, and N) between the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers and north of the present northern boundary of the State of Missouri. By Act of March 3, 1845, admitted as a State, (Af and Ah,) having the same boundaries as at present, except that to the west the State extended only to the meridian of 17° 30′, while on the north it extended to the parallel passing through the mouth of the Mankato or Blue Earth River. By Act of August 4, 1846, the State of Iowa was extended westward and restricted on the north to its present boundaries: by Act of December 28, 1846, re-admitted as so enlarged.

TEXAS.—By Joint Resolution of December 29, 1845, admitted as a State; had previously been an independent republic, and at an earlier date a portion of Mexico.

OREGON.—By Act of August 14, 1848, formed as a Territory out of the French cession, extending from the Forty-second parallel to the international boundary line, and from the Pacific Ocean eastward to the Rocky Mountains; area, 288,345 square miles. By Act of February 14, 1859, admitted as a State as now bounded; area, 95,274 square miles. The part of the Territory not included in the State, 193,071 square miles, (Bu, V, Ax, Bj, and Be,) became the original Territory of Washington.

MINNESOTA.—By Act of March 3, 1849, formed as a Territory out of land east of the Mississippi River ceded by Great Britain, which was first in the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio, afterward successively in the Territories of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, (Z,) and out of other lands west of the Mississippi River, ceded by France, which were successively in the Territories of Louisiana, (afterward organized as the Territory of Missouri,) Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa, (N, Ai, and Ah.) At the passage of this act, this Territory consisted of the parts of the Territories of Iowa and Wisconsin which were not respectively included in the States of the same names. As thus constituted the Territory extended from the northern boundary of the State of Iowa northward to the international boundary line, and from the western boundaries of the States of Wisconsin and Iowa to the Missouri and White Earth Rivers; area, 165,491 square miles. By Act of February 26, 1857, the portion of the Territory east of the present western boundary of the State (Z, Ah, and Ai) was enabled to become a State; by Act of May 11, 1858, the same was admitted as a State; area, 83,531 square miles. The part of the Territory not included in the State, 81,960 square miles (N) became a part of the Territory of Dakota.

CALIFORNIA.—By Act of September 9, 1850, admitted as a State; from territory ceded by Mexico.

UTAH.—By Act of September 9, 1850, formed as a Territory, extending from the Rocky Mountains westward to California, and from the southern boundary of the Territory of Oregon, being the Forty-second parallel, southward to the Thirty-seventh parallel; area, 220,196 square miles. By Act of February 28, 1861, 29,500 square miles, (L) set off to the Territory of Colorado. By Act of March 2, 1861, 10,740 square miles (Bf) set off to the Territory of Nebraska. By Act of March 2, 1861, 73,574 square miles (Bg) set off to the Territory of Nevada. By Act of May 5, 1866, 18,326 square miles (Bh) set off to the State of Nevada. By Act of July 25, 1868, 3,580 square miles (Cd) set off to the Territory of Wyoming. The remainder, 84,476 square miles, forms the present Territory of Utah.

NEW MEXICO.—By Act of September 9, 1850, which, by Proclamation of December 13, 1850, was declared to take effect at the date of proclamation, constituted a Territory; extending from California eastward to the Twenty-sixth meridian, and from the northern boundary line of Mexico northward to the Thirty-seventh parallel, while between the Rocky Mountains and the Twenty-sixth meridian it extended northward to the Thirty-eighth parallel; area, 215,807 square miles. By Act of August 4, 1854, the territory acquired from Mexico by the Gadsden treaty, 45,535 square miles (Ck and Cl) was annexed. It thus had a total area of 261,342 square miles, wholly constituted from cessions from Mexico and from the State of Texas. By Act of February 28, 1861, 14,000 square miles, (I) set off to the Territory of Colorado. By Act of February 24, 1863, 126,141 square miles (E, Bi, and Ck) set off as the Territory of Arizona, (see Arizona, post,) leaving 121,201 square miles, the present area of the Territory.

WASHINGTON.—By Act of March 2, 1853, formed as a Territory from the Territory of Oregon, and included all of the Territory not afterward included in the State of Oregon; area, 193,071 square miles, (Bu, V, Ax, Bj, and Be.) By Act of March 2, 1861, 4,638 square miles (Be) set off to the Territory of Nebraska. By Act of March 3, 1863, all of its territory then east of the Fortieth meridian and the Snake River, 118,439 square miles, set off to the Territory of Idaho, (see Idaho, post.) The remainder, 69,994 square miles, constitutes the present Territory of Washington.

KANSAS.—By Act of May 30, 1854, formed as a Territory, extending from the western boundary of Missouri westward to the Rocky Mountains, then the eastern boundary of the Territory of Utah; and from the Thirty-seventh northward to the Fortieth parallel, excepting that part of the Territory of New Mexico north of the Thirty-seventh parallel; area, 126,283 square miles, (H, J, Aj, and Ak.) By Act of January 29, 1861, that portion of the Territory east of the Twenty-fifth meridian, 81,318 square miles, (Aj and Ak,) was admitted as a State. By Act of February 28, 1861, the remainder of the Territory, 44,965 square miles, (H and J,) was included in the Territory of Colorado.

NEBRASKA.—By Act of May 30, 1854, formed as a Territory from the public domain included between the western boundary (mainly the Missouri and White Earth Rivers) of the then Territory of Minnesota and the Rocky Mountains and between the Fortieth parallel and the international boundary line; area, 351,558 square miles, (Ay, Az, Be, Bd, K, O, and P.) By Act of February 28, 1861, 16,035 square miles (K) set off to the Territory of Colorado. By Act of March 2, 1861, 228,907 square miles (O, P, Ay, and Bd) set off to the Territory of Dakota. Hitherto this area has been reported officially as 244,942 square miles through failure to deduct 16,035 square miles mentioned above, which had been set off from the Territory of Nebraska to the Territory of Colorado in the month before the Territory of Dakota was organized. By the same act the Territory of Nebraska received from the original Territory of Washington 4,638 square miles, (Be,) and from the Territory of Utah 10,740 square miles, (Bf.) As thus constituted the Territory of Nebraska extended from the Missouri River westward to the Thirty-third meridian, and from the present northern boundary of the State of Nebraska, and west thereof from the Forty-third parallel southward to the present southern boundary of the State of Nebraska, and west thereof to the Forty-first parallel; its area was 121,994 square miles. By Act of March 3, 1863, there were set off to the Territory of Idaho 45,999 square miles, made up—1st, of 39,621 square miles (Bc) at first in the original Territory of Nebraska; 2d, of 4,638 square miles (Be) once in the Territory of Oregon and afterward in the original Territory of Washington; and, 3d, of 10,740 square miles (Bf) originally in the Territory of Utah. These reductions left the area of the Territory of Nebraska 75,995 square miles. By Act of April 19, 1864, the same Territory enabled to become a State; by Act of February 9, 1867, admitted as a State.

Colorado.—By Act of February 28, 1861, formed as a Territory with an area of 104,500 square miles, consisting—1st, of 14,000 square miles (I) from the Territory of New Mexico; 2d, of 29,500 square miles (L) from the Territory of Utah; 3d, of 16,035 square miles (K) from the original Territory of Nebraska; and 4th, of 44,965 square miles (H and J) from the Territory of Kansas.

Nevada.—By Act of March 2, 1861, formed as a Territory from a strip of the State of California and that part of the Territory of Utah west of the Thirty-eighth meridian. California, however, has not ceded the part of her territory included in the statutory boundaries of Nevada; area, exclusive of this portion of California, 73,574 square miles, (Bg.) By Act of March 21, 1864, enabled to become a State; October 31, 1864, proclaimed a State. By Act of May 5, 1866, there was added to the State of Nevada 18,326 square miles (Bh) from the Territory of Utah, and 12,225 square miles (Bi) from the Territory of Arizona. Present area of the State of Nevada, 104,125 square miles.

Dakota.—By Act of March 2, 1861, formed as a Territory, extending from the western boundaries of the States of Minnesota and Iowa westward to the Rocky Mountains, and from the present northern boundary of the State of Nebraska and to the west thereof from the Forty-third parallel northward to the international boundary line. It consisted of the portion of the original Territory of Nebraska north of the last-mentioned boundary, 228,907 square miles, (O, P, Ay, and Bd,) and of all of the Territory of Minnesota remaining after the erection of the State of Minnesota, 81,960 square miles, (N;) having thus a total area of 310,867 square miles. By Act of March 3, 1863, the Territory of Dakota gave to the Territory of Idaho, of land at first in the original Territory of Nebraska, 161,935 square miles, (Bd, P, and Ay.) Hitherto this area has been officially reported as 177,970 square miles, erroneously including 16,035 square miles (K) which had passed from the original Territory of Nebraska to the Territory of Colorado before the organization of the Territory of Dakota. There then remained an area of 148,932 square miles. Hitherto this area has been officially reported as 150,932 square miles, which is the present area of the Territory of Dakota, the difference of 2,000 square miles (P) being accounted for by a strip of the present Territory of Dakota west of the Territory of Wyoming, which, at the period referred to, was not embraced in the Territory of Dakota. By Act of May 26, 1864, (the act erecting the Territory of Montana,) the Territory of Dakota received from the Territory of Idaho—1st, land which had been first in the original Territory of Nebraska, next in the Territory of Dakota, afterward in the Territory of Idaho; in extent, 45,666 square miles, (Bd and P;) 2d, land which had been at first in the original Territory of Nebraska, afterward in the Territory of Idaho; in extent, 30,621 square miles, (Bc;) 3d, land which had been originally in the Territory of Utah, next in the Territory of Nebraska, afterward in the Territory of Idaho; in extent, 10,740 square miles, (Bf;) 4th, land originally in the Territory of Oregon, next in the original Territory of Washington, next in the Territory of Nebraska, and afterward in the Territory of Idaho; in extent, 4,638 square miles, (Be.) Total received from the Territory of Idaho, 91,665 square miles. The area of the Territory of Dakota was thus 240,597 square miles. By Act of July 25, 1868, the Territory of Dakota gave to the Territory of Wyoming 89,665 square miles, being all of the above-mentioned 91,665 square miles, excepting 2,000 square miles (P) from the item 45,666 square miles. The present area of the Territory of Dakota (150,932 square miles) is thus obtained, but a tract containing 2,000 square miles (P) lies separated from the main body of the Territory by the entire extent east to west of the Territory of Wyoming. The present area of the Territory of Dakota is made up of N, O, and P.

Arizona.—By Act of February 24, 1863, formed as a Territory (E, Bi, and Ck) from the western part of the Territory of New Mexico; area, 126,141 square miles. By Act of May 5, 1866, 12,225 square miles (Bi) set off to the State of Nevada. Present area, 113,916 square miles.

Idaho.—By Act of March 3, 1863, formed as a Territory; then consisted of—1st, 118,439 square miles, (V, Ax, and Bj.) Hitherto this area has been officially reported as 123,077 square miles through failure to deduct 4,638 square miles (Be) which, by Act of March 2, 1861, had been set off from the original Territory of Washington to the Territory of Nebraska. It was at first a part of the Territory of Oregon, and next in the original Territory of Washington, being what remained after the present Territory of Washington had been carved from it, less 4,638 square miles above mentioned; 2d, of 161,935 square miles (Bd, P, and Ay) once of the original Territory of Nebraska and subsequently in the Territory of Dakota; 3d, of 39,621 square miles (Bc) directly from the Territory of Nebraska;

4th, of 10,740 square miles (Bf) originally in the Territory of Utah, afterward in the Territory of Nebraska; 5th, of 4,638 square miles (Be) once in the Territory of Oregon, next of the original Territory of Washington, and afterward of the Territory of Nebraska; making the total original area of the Territory 326,373 square miles. By Act of May 26, 1864, the entire Territory of Montana, 143,776 square miles, (Ax and Ay,) was formed out of the Territory of Idaho. By the same act 91,665 square miles (see Dakota, ante) further were set off to the Territory of Dakota, leaving an area of 90,932 square miles. By Act of July 25, 1868, 4,638 square miles (Bj) once in the Territory of Oregon, next in the original Territory of Washington, and afterward in the Territory of Idaho, [not to be confounded with the 4,638 square miles (Be) twice mentioned just above,] were set off to the Territory of Wyoming. This transfer reduced the Territory to its present area, 86,294 square miles, all of which was once in the Territory of Oregon, and afterward in the original Territory of Washington.

WEST VIRGINIA.—By Act of December 31, 1862, declared to be a State, to be admitted at a date sixty days after proclamation to be made by the President. By Proclamation April 30, 1863, said act made to take effect June 9, 1863; from Virginia; area, 23,000 square miles.

MONTANA.—By Act of May 26, 1864, formed as a Territory from the northeastern part of the Territory of Idaho. It consists—1st, of 116,269 square miles, Ay, at first part of the original Territory of Nebraska, next in the Territory of Dakota, and afterward in the Territory of Idaho; and, 2d, of 27,507 square miles, Ax, first in the Territory of Oregon, next in the original Territory of Washington, afterward in the Territory of Idaho. Aggregate area of the Territory, 143,776 square miles.

ALASKA.—By Treaty of May 28, 1867, ceded by Russia. A geographical but not a political division of the United States. Area 577,390 square miles.

WYOMING.—By Act of July 25, 1868, formed as a Territory from portions of the then Territories of Utah, Dakota, and Idaho, aggregating 97,883 square miles, as follows: 1st, 30,621 square miles (Bc) once in the original Territory of Nebraska, next in the Territory of Idaho, afterward in the Territory of Dakota; 2d, 10,740 square miles (Bf) originally in the Territory of Utah, next in the Territory of Nebraska, next in the Territory of Idaho, afterward in the Territory of Dakota; 3d, 4,638 square miles (Bj) once in the Territory of Oregon, next in the original Territory of Washington, next in the Territory of Idaho; 4th, 43,666 square miles (Bd) at first in the original Territory of Nebraska, next in the Territory of Dakota, next in the Territory of Idaho, afterward in the Territory of Dakota; 5th, 3,580 square miles (Cd) originally in the Territory of Utah; 6th, 4,638 square miles (Be) a tract the history and description of which are as follows: It is a right-angled triangle, having for its base the Forty-second parallel, its perpendicular the Thirty-third meridian, and its irregular hypothenuse the crest of the Rocky Mountains. It was at first the extreme southeastern projection of the original Territory of Oregon. It then occupied the same relative position in the original Territory of Washington, which extended westward to the Pacific Ocean. It next became a part of the western extremity of the Territory of Nebraska, which reached eastward to the Missouri River. It was next attached to Idaho, afterward to Dakota, from which it was set off to Wyoming, where it remains for the present. The Territory of Wyoming, therefore, consists of two parcels from each of the original Territories of Nebraska, Utah, and Oregon; and, while it has received no territory from Montana and Colorado, which adjoin it on the north and south, it nevertheless contains lands which have at different times been comprised in six other Territories, nearly one-half of the Territory having twice formed a part of Dakota.

DESCRIPTION OF PARCELS OF TERRITORY INTO WHICH THE TERRITORY OF THE UNITED STATES HAS BEEN DIVIDED BY THE SUCCESSIVE BOUNDARIES OF POLITICAL DIVISIONS.

An. Louisiana, now in the State of: estimated area, 3,744 square miles. Being the part of the present State of Louisiana not included in Am. Ceded by Spain.

MAINE, the State of: area, 35,000 square miles. Ceded by the State of Massachusetts. The portion of the State of Maine west of the River Kennebec and north of a right line connecting a point on that river one hundred and twenty miles from its mouth, with a point an equal distance from the mouth of the Piscataqua River, and in the general direction of that river projected northerly, appears never to have been within the old British Province of Main, or of Massachusetts Bay, or in the State of Massachusetts. If so, the title to this tract of land was vested directly in the United States by the Treaty of 1783, with Great Britain.

MARYLAND, the State of: area, 11,124 square miles. One of the original thirteen States. Originally, was Ap and Co. The District of Columbia, (Co.) 61 square miles, was ceded by the State of Maryland to the United States.

MASSACHUSETTS, the State of: area, 7,800 square miles. One of the original thirteen States, and then consisted of Ao and Aq. (See Maine.) After legislation granting and receiving sovereignty and jurisdiction by the States concerned, and after consent to the cession by Congress, the southwestern extremity of the State of Massachusetts known as the District of Boston Corner was, by the Proclamation of the Governor of the State of Massachusetts, dated January 11, 1855, declared ceded to the State of New York. Pursuant to an Act of the Legislature of Massachusetts, passed April 10, 1861, and to a Decree of the Supreme Court of the United States in the December term of 1861, the boundary between the States of Massachusetts and Rhode Island was so adjusted that these States interchanged parcels of territory. These two transactions transferred areas too small for further description, or for insertion in the succeeding table of parcels, or for delineation on the map of parcels.

MICHIGAN, the Territory of, (obsolete:) at first consisted of Ab, Ad, Ar, and Bs; estimated area, 41,243 square miles; next Ae, Cg, X, Y, and Z were added, and Ab was subtracted; estimated area then, 136,975 square miles; afterward Af, Ag, Ah, Ai, and N were added, increasing the area to 331,511 square miles. The Territory is now covered by the States of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, by parts of the States of Ohio and Indiana, (Bs and Ab,) and by the part of the Territory of Dakota which lies east of the Missouri and White Earth Rivers.

MICHIGAN, the State of: area, 56,451 square miles. Consists of Ad, Ae, Ar, and Y. Ceded by Great Britain.

Ad. Michigan, now in the State of: estimated area, 19,000 square miles. Bounded on the south by a line drawn due east through a point ten miles north of the southern extremity of Lake Michigan to the eastern boundary of the State of Indiana, on the east by said boundary of Indiana extended northward until it intersects the western boundary of this piece of territory, which begins on the southern boundary of this parcel and runs northwardly through the middle of that lake to the point of intersection with its eastern boundary. Ceded by Great Britain. Transfers: from the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio successively to the Territories of Indiana and Michigan and to the State of Michigan.

Ar. Michigan, now in the State of: estimated area, 20,443 square miles. Being all of the State of Michigan east of the eastern boundary of the State of Indiana extended northward to the international boundary line. Same cession and transfers as Ad.

Ae. Michigan, now in the State of: estimated area, 7,180 square miles. Consists of all the territory (except Cg) bounded on the east by the western boundary of Ar, on the north by the international boundary line, on the west by the meridian of the eastern boundary of Illinois, on the south by the northern boundary of Ab. Same cession and transfers as Ad.

Y. Michigan, now in the State of: estimated area, 9,828 square miles. Bounded on the east by the western boundary of Ae, on the north and northwest by the international boundary line, on the south and southwest by the State of Wisconsin. Ceded by Great Britain. Transfers: from the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio successively to the Territories of Indiana, Illinois, and Michigan, and to the State of Michigan.

MINNESOTA, the Territory of, (obsolete:) area, 165,491 square miles. Consisted of N, Z, Ai, and Ah. Absorbed by the State of Minnesota and that portion of the Territory of Dakota lying east of the Missouri River.

MINNESOTA, the State of: area, 83,531 square miles. It consists of Z, Ah, and Ai. Ceded, east of the Mississippi River, by Great Britain; west, by France.

Z. Minnesota, now in the State of: estimated area, 26,000 square miles. Bounded on the north by the international boundary line, on the east by the boundaries of the State, on the west by the Mississippi River and a line drawn due north from its source to the international boundary line. Ceded by Great Britain. Transfers: from the Territory Northwest of the River Ohio successively to the Territories of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Minnesota, and to the State of Minnesota.

Ai. Minnesota, now in the State of: estimated area, 50,475 square miles. Bounded on the north by the international boundary line, on the east by a line drawn from the international boundary line due south to the source of the Mississippi River, and by the Mississippi River, southward to and along the northern boundary of Ah, to and southward along the meridian of 17° 30′, to and westward along the parallel of 43° 30′ to the western boundary of the State of Minnesota, and on the west by the western boundary of the State of Minnesota. Ceded by France. Transfers: from the Territory of Missouri successively to the Territories of Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, and Minnesota, and to the State of Minnesota.

Ah. Minnesota, now in the State of: estimated area, 7,056 square miles. Bounded on the north by the parallel passing through the confluence of the Blue Earth or Mankato and the Minnesota Rivers, on the east by the Mississippi River, on the south by the parallel of 43° 30′, and on the west by the meridian of 17° 30′. Ceded by France. Transfers: from the Territory of Missouri to the Territories of Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa, to the State of Iowa, again to the Territory of Iowa, to the Territory of Minnesota, and to the State of Minnesota.

MISSISSIPPI TERRITORY, (obsolete:) at first consisted of C and At; estimated area, 33,956 square miles; afterward A, B, As, and Cm were added; estimated area, 91,978 square miles; afterward D and Au were added; area, 97,878 square miles. The eastern part became the State of Alabama and the western the State of Mississippi.

MISSISSIPPI, the State of: area, 47,156 square miles. Consists of As, At, Au, and Cm. Ceded by the States of South Carolina and Georgia, and by Spain.

Cm. Mississippi, now in the State of: estimated area, 1,700 square miles. A strip of land twelve miles wide across the northern part of the State of Mississippi, next the State of Tennessee. Ceded by the State of South Carolina. Transfers: from the Territory South of the River Ohio to Mississippi Territory and the State of Mississippi.

As. Mississippi, now in the State of: estimated area, 26,900 square miles. Lies south of Cm and north of At. Ceded by the State of Georgia. Transfers: from Mississippi Territory to the State of Mississippi.

At. Mississippi, now in the State of: estimated area, 14,956 square miles. South of As, and bounded on the north by a line drawn due east through the mouth of the Yazoo River and on the south by the 31st parallel. Ceded by the State of Georgia. Transfers: from Mississippi Territory to the State of Mississippi.

Au. Mississippi, now in the State of: estimated area, 3,600 square miles. All of the State of Mississippi south of the 31st parallel. Ceded by Spain. Transfers: from Mississippi Territory to the State of Mississippi.

MISSOURI. Territory of, (obsolete:) estimated area, 1,122,975 square miles. Was a reorganization of the Territory of Louisiana with the same boundaries. Consisted of all of the "Province of Louisiana" except Am.

MISSOURI, the State of: area, 65,350 square miles. Consisted first of Av, afterward Aw was added.

Av. Missouri, now in the State of: estimated area, 62,182 square miles. Is the State of Missouri east of the meridian passing through the confluence of the Kansas and Missouri Rivers. Transfers: from the Province to the District and Territory of Louisiana, and to the Territory and State of Missouri. Was the original State of Missouri.

Aw. Missouri, now in the State of: estimated area, 3,168 square miles. Consists of all of the State west of Av. Transfers; same as Av, except that it was not in the original State of Missouri.

MONTANA, the Territory of: area, 143,776 square miles. Consists of Ax and Ay. Ceded by France.

Ax. Montana, now in the Territory of: area, 27,507 square miles. Bounded north by the 49th parallel, east by the Rocky Mountains to their junction with the Bitter Root Mountains, west by the Bitter Root Mountains to the 39th meridian, and on that meridian northward to the 49th parallel. Ceded by France. Transfers: from the Territory of Oregon to the original Territory of Washington, to the Territory of Idaho, to the Territory of Montana.

Ay. Montana, now in the Territory of: area, 116,269 square miles. Bounded north by the 49th parallel, east by the 27th meridian, south by the 45th parallel to the 34th meridian, southward on that meridian to the parallel of 44° 30′, westward on that parallel to the Rocky Mountains, and on the west by the Rocky Mountains. NOTES TO THE PRECEDING TABLE OF PARCELS.

To the first and second pages of the table—

* And indefinitely westward.

† And the portions of Br, Ac, and W lying south of the 41st meridian, and extended indefinitely westward.

‡ All of the then territory of the United States west of the River Mississippi, and that part of the State of Louisiana east of that river, and south of the "Rivers Iberville and Amite and Lakes Maurepas and Pontchartrain."

§ Same extent as the "Province of Louisiana" in 1803, less the portion of the Province within the boundaries of the present State of Louisiana.

¶ After the admission of the State of Tennessee, in 1796, these parcels were styled "the territory of the United States south of the State of Tennessee," until 1804, when they were added to Mississippi Territory.

‖ The Spanish Province of East Florida was S, now the State of Florida, and of West Florida was D, Au, and An, respectively in the States of Alabama, Mississippi, and Louisiana.

 Also the District of Louisiana, being all of the French cession except the State of Louisiana, was committed to the government of the officers of the Territory of Indiana.

To the third and fourth pages of the table—

* Unorganized and identical in extent with the Territory of Missouri, being all the then territory of the United States west of the River Mississippi not within the present boundaries of the States of Louisiana, Missouri, and Arkansas. (See Indian Country, page 576.)

† Less F.

‡ Less Av.

§ And part of Bm and of I, and of J south of the River Arkansas.

¶ All the territory of the French cession between the Rocky Mountains on the west and the River and State of Missouri on the east.

‖ Absorbed by the original Territory of Nebraska, the Territory of Kansas, and the Indian Country.

 Ceded by the State of Texas, and not included in the Territory of New Mexico.

†† See Massachusetts, page 583. The transfer of 1855 is placed in the column of 1854 to save space.

‡‡ No changes in organization or area from 1868 to 1870.

TABLE XX.

AREAS, FAMILIES, AND DWELLINGS,

WITH THE DISTRIBUTION OF POPULATION TO EACH,

IN THE UNITED STATES,

AT THE CENSUSES OF 1870, 1860, AND 1850,

(BY STATES AND TERRITORIES.)

THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE TABLE OF AREAS.

The construction of the columns of areas in the following table has been attended with difficulty, owing to the uncertainty of the official data. As late as 1850, and even at 1860, the reported areas of the Territories and the extreme Western States were mainly estimates, or at best approximate calculations, and even at the present time are not generally the result of completed surveys. For the purposes of this table the areas given in the report of the Commissioner of the General Land Office for the year 1870 have been taken as correct with one exception. In that report the area of Nevada is given as 112,090 square miles. In this area table it has been reduced by 7,965 square miles. The facts relied on to justify this reduction are that the statute erecting Nevada, after fixing its boundaries, provides that the part of California included by the act in Nevada shall not become a part of Nevada until California shall assent to the transfer. California has at no time assented, therefore the area of this strip of land, 7,965 square miles, has been deducted from the reported area of Nevada, and the area of California has not been changed, inasmuch as this tract appears to have been included both in California and Nevada in the table of the General Land Office for the year 1870. Assuming thus the areas of 1870 as standard, the official figures for 1860 and 1850 have been brought to them, where the boundaries of States have remained unchanged. Where transfers of territory have been made it has been sought, in the following table, to account accurately for the gain and loss during each decennial period. The principal transfers of areas from one civil division to another, in the columns of the table, are as follows:

The territory given as the Indian Country in the column for 1850, 195,274 square miles, appears at 1860 both as the Indian Country, 68,991 square miles, and as the Territory of Kansas, 126,283 square miles. The latter again at 1870 appears both as the State of Kansas, 81,318 square miles, and as a portion of the Territory of Colorado, 44,965 square miles.

The Territory of Minnesota at 1850, 165,491 square miles, appears at 1860 as the State of Minnesota, 83,531 square miles, and the Territory of Minnesota, 81,960 square miles. The latter appears in 1870 as a portion of the Territory of Dakota.

The Territory of Nebraska was not organized until 1854. The area on the line given to that Territory in the column for 1850, 351,558 square miles, represents the then unorganized portion of the public domain, exclusive of the Indian Country, as tabulated. It was then called the Northwest Territory. It had the same extent as Nebraska, when organized four years later, as the same appears in the column for 1860. The Territory of Nebraska of 1860 appears in 1870 as the entire State of Nebraska, 75,995 square miles, a portion of the Territory of Colorado, 16,035 square miles, a portion of the Territory of Dakota, 68,972 square miles, a portion of the Territory of Montana, 116,269 square miles, and a portion of the Territory of Wyoming, 74,287 square miles.

The Territory of New Mexico at 1850, 215,807 square miles, appears in 1860 with an increase of 45,535 square miles, representing the territory acquired from Mexico by the Gadsden treaty. The area of the Territory in 1860, 261,342 square miles, is represented in 1870 by the whole of the Territory of New Mexico, 121,201 square miles, the whole of the Territory of Arizona, 113,916 square miles, a portion of the State of Nevada, 12,225 square miles, and a portion of the Territory of Colorado, 14,000 square miles.

The Territory of Oregon at 1850, 288,345 square miles, appears in 1860 as the State of Oregon, 95,274 square miles, and the Territory of Washington, 193,071 square miles; the latter in 1870 appears as the whole of the Territory of Washington, 69,994 square miles, the whole of the Territory of Idaho, 86,294 square miles, a portion of the Territory of Montana, 26,901 square miles, and a portion of the Territory of Wyoming, 9,882 square miles.

The Territory of Utah at 1850, 220,196 square miles, appears without change in 1860. In 1870 it appears as the whole of the Territory of Utah, 84,476 square miles, a portion of the Territory of Colorado, 29,500 square miles, a portion of the State of Nevada, 91,900 square miles, and a portion of the Territory of Wyoming, 14,320 square miles.

NOTES ON AREAS.—(a) The land surface of the United States, 3,603,884 square miles, when increased by the water surface of the great lakes and rivers, brings the total area of the United States to 4,000,000 square miles.

(b) The increase of the total area of the United States at 1860 over 1850 represents that territory acquired from Mexico known as the Gadsden purchase. The increase of the area at 1870 over 1860 expresses the acquisition of Alaska.

(c) The area of the Indian country at each census includes the area of the unorganized territory which is west of that country and is described in the notes preceding the above table.

NOTES ON FAMILIES AND DWELLINGS.—(d) At the censuses of 1860 and 1850, the families and dwellings of the free population only were returned. Hence the computations in the above table for those censuses respecting persons to a family or to a dwelling have been made on the basis of the free population. The true number of families in the United States at 1860 may be approximated by adding to the total families in the table 748,815, being the families of the slaves, calculated at the average persons (5.28) to a family for the free population of the United States at that census. The number of families thus becomes 5,959,752. By the same process, the families at 1850 become 4,174,555. The dwellings increased for the slaves respectively, at the rate of one dwelling to six slaves, (the estimate adopted at 1850,) become, for 1860, 5,628,692, and, for 1850, 3,596,349.

(e) The families and persons to a family for Utah, at 1860, have been obtained by combining the families and population of Utah and Nevada published separately in the report of the Eighth Census. Nevada was not made a Territory until the year 1861.
